

The generous premises of hotel Hoře are located in the heart of the town of Pře pod Sněžkou.

Pře pod Sněžkou. is surrounded by a number of mountains and hills. In the northeast lies the forested Pink Mountain (1300 metres above sea level), in the north a number of the three highest mountains of the Giant Mountains - Sněžka (1602 m above sea level), Well Mountain (1554 metres above sea level) and Meadow Mountain (1547 metres above sea level). In the west it borders the territory of the town of West plain and Fox Mountain. The circle is almost closed by the slopes of Javor between which the River Úpa flows through the Pink Mountain.

Hotel Hore was built in 1907 by Josef and Filipina Kuhn. On 1 December 1908, a building procedure was held, on the basis of which a permit for the use of the hotel was subsequently granted. The first reconstruction of the hotel took place in 1925.
